Unmasked: The Truth Behind the Opioid Crisis in Pickens County

Most of us know that opioid addiction is rapidly on the rise throughout the United States. But did you realize that the rate of overdose deaths involving opioids in South Carolina is higher than the national average? And did you know that Pickens County has one of the highest concentrations of opioid-related deaths in South Carolina?

The Pickens County Library System, in collaboration with the Steppin' It Up Coalition, invite you to a series of Town Hall Meetings to discuss the truth behind the opioid crisis in Pickens County:

Monday, September 9 from 6-8 pm: Hampton Memorial Library, Easley

Monday, September 16 from 5-7 pm: Sarlin Library, Liberty

Monday, September 23 from 5-7 pm: Village Library, Pickens

Monday, September 30 from 6-8 pm: Central-Clemson Library

These meetings will involve panel discussions, and time for questions and comments. All are welcome. For more information, please call the Hampton Memorial Library at 850-7077.

The background of the entire page is a photograph of three open, yellow pill containers. The containers are arranged in a row, slightly overlapping. The leftmost container is tilted to the left, with several white, round pills spilling out onto the surface. The middle container is upright, with a few white pills visible inside and one white pill on the surface in front of it. The rightmost container is tilted to the right, with several blue, oblong pills spilling out onto the surface. The surface is reflective, showing the containers and pills. The background is a soft, out-of-focus blue.
