The Science of Ghost Hunting @ Your Library!

Join us in welcoming Paula Hayes, founder of the Southern Paranormal and Anomaly Research Society (SPARS) on Monday, October 20th at 6:30pm at the Hampton Memorial Library in Easley. Hayes and members of her team will discuss the science of ghost hunting and share some of their own experiences. Their lecture will be followed by a question and answer session. This program is geared toward adults and young adults.

SPARS is a team of individuals with diverse backgrounds which include: science, history, and film making. Despite their varied credentials, they share a common interest in researching paranormal activity. SPARS conducts their investigations with scientific scrutiny, rather than a spiritual view, and does complete history and background research on each individual case. SPARS is a proud member of The Atlantic Paranormal Society (TAPS) family, as seen on the Sci-Fi channel's Ghost Hunters.
